

Hello everyone!

I hope you have had a good week and I know you are learning lots.

On Monday, I did a Kids Zumba workout on Youtube. I felt very out of breath when I was finished!

On Tuesday, I helped to cut the grass while the sun was shining.

On Wednesday, I helped Mr Ainslie to water his vegetable plants. This tray is full of baby broccoli plants.

On Thursday, I just 'hung out' with my friends. You could see your friends on a video call or speak to them on the phone.

On Friday, Mrs Ainslie and I (and Wilma the cat!) had a cosy day in our pyjamas, taking part in Booktrust's Pyjamarama. We read our favourite books and did some of the activities on the website.

Mrs Ainslie absolutely loves books, as you know. If you took part in the Pyjamarama too, be sure to send us a photo and let us know what you did to celebrate reading and stories!

Lots of love,

Bearemy
