During plan, do and review time, children should orally make a plan to do an activity of their own choosing, follow their plan through, and talk about what they have done, made etc. This could be time playing with favourite toys, creative time, playing a game, or one of the 'Teacher's Choice' activities on school360. Time to play and to process and apply their learning in their play is so important for young children, and will naturally cover many of our Early Years learning intentions.
